

Swine flu survivor!

Steve is relieved to have survived swine flu!

It was a short, sharp episode, and meant that the start of my next typesetting project had to be delayed for a week.

But PTL, I'm now back in harness, and making good progress with Richard Gravina on the Mbuko New Testament (see separate post).

A very heartfelt thank you to everyone who prayed and sent encouraging messages. My apologies that I wasn't able to reply personally to them all. Since returning to work life has been rather hectic—see other recent posts!
